IT TAKES A COMMUNITY TO RAISE A CHILD

The Support Panel is a FREE service that has been set up to help children aged 8 to 13 years of age who may be at risk of being a victim of crime or be starting to get involved in crime. Many things can be difficult for children which affect how they behave, such as being a victim of crime, losing someone important to them, exclusion from school, bullying, parents separating, or moving school.

The Panel aims to make things better through:

- After school clubs
- One to one mentoring
- Parenting support
- Domestic violence outreach service
- Drama Clubs
- Sports Activities
- Health advice
- Youth projects
- School holiday activities
- Young People Affected by Crime
- Assistance to and from activities
- Personal development programmes

And many more

Your child might benefit from the Support Panel if you are worried about any of the following:

- problems making friends of the same age
- may be using drugs or alcohol
- keeping company with kids who are a bad influence
- taking time off school without your permission
- excluded from school
- experiencing trouble in school
- experiencing trouble at home
- taking things from shops
- many complaints from neighbours about behaviour

If you feel that this service can help your child please contact:

SECRETS AND SPIES
Narrated by Rufus Sewall

It's vital we're aware of the damage espionage can do, and how we can protect ourselves against it. Head of Counter-Espionage, MI5 - The Security Service.

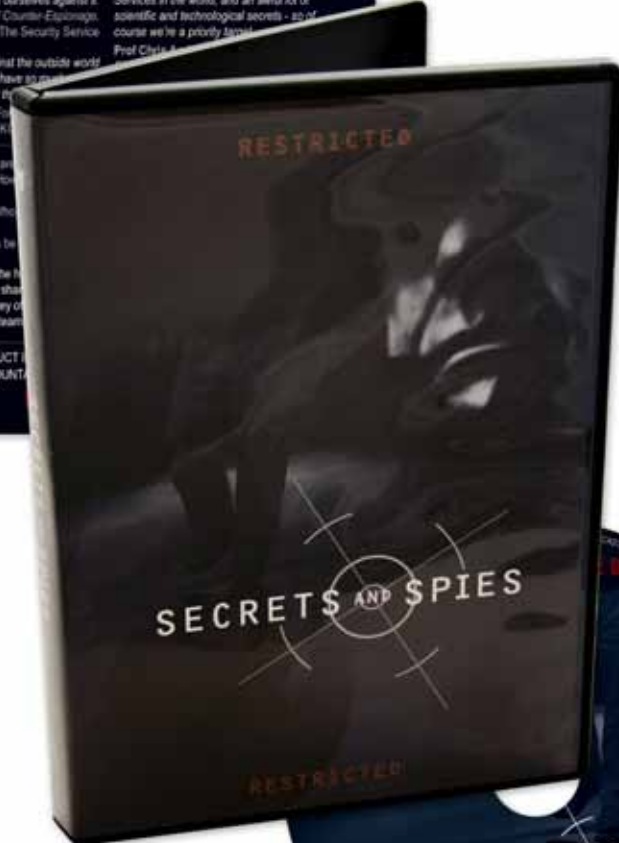

Russia is now spying against the outside world more than ever before. They have so many eyes now from oil, and they put them everywhere. Oleg Gordievsky, Former KGB spy.

So long as there are secrets, there will be spies. Who are they? Could you be one?

Secrets and Spies reveals the history of the officers, past and present, that protect our secrets, and provides the guidance they offer to you, your colleagues and your loved ones.

ESPIONAGE IN THE 21ST CENTURY

In 1914 there were secrets to keep, there will be more wanting to know them, in the information age, knowledge is power. It's also a commodity, and like any precious commodity it has its traders, its entrepreneurs, and of course, its eager clients.

But just how real is the threat from espionage today? What forms does it take? Who, and what, are today's spies interested in? Will do they work for? How importantly must you be the target for a hostile foreign intelligence agency?

The United Kingdom has always been a prime target for foreign intelligence services. Many things make the United Kingdom, and its citizens, attractive to those eager to get their hands on sensitive information.

- The UK has always been at the forefront of scientific and technological research, both in the military and civilian sectors.
- The UK is seen as America's closest ally in Europe, and that relationship makes us particularly attractive to hostile foreign intelligence agencies.
- London's Square Mile is a leader in Europe's financial world.
- The UK's tradition of individual liberty and freedom of information provides an opportunity for intelligence officers.

The Cold War may be over but there are still countries that are actively spying against UK interests. The main espionage threat continues to come from Russia and China.

Go, who is vulnerable? What exactly do foreign intelligence agencies want? How do they operate today?

HOW DO FOREIGN SERVICES ACCUMULATE INFORMATION?

In our information age, accumulating intelligence often involves traditional espionage techniques, such as recruiting human sources to acquire the intelligence they want. They will cultivate confidential contacts and sources in order to obtain the information they need.

Both the Russian and Chinese intelligence services are well served in the most sophisticated techniques of technical espionage, the interception of telecommunications and, increasingly, the access to electronic attacks on computers via the internet.

When you are abroad, or business or pleasure, the most sophisticated espionage services in certain countries can afford to use more sophisticated espionage techniques on their own home ground.

- Laptops and tablet phones may be covertly surveilled, and sensitive documents and PC/capital hard drives may be copied.
- Home, mobile phones, and tablet PCs may be monitoring back on your mobile to your contacts.
- Mobile phones and tablets are often targeted by foreigners as likely to be covered by surveillance services.

SECRETS AND SPIES KEY MESSAGES

Spies - espionage is still with us, and can be dangerous.

Get any suspicious contacts or incidents reported to your Departmental Security Officer or Line Officer straight away. Don't wait until it's too late.

Be best practice in personal security and personal security (if necessary).

Some countries will also use espionage to obtain information on their own, resident overseas who have taken refuge in the UK. Sometimes that aim is simply to assess what threat these individuals pose to the home country, but on occasion such intelligence gathering can have a more sinister objective.

Intelligence officers can be masters in the arts of flattery, persuasion and subtle coercion. They will seek vulnerabilities and exploit them to their own ends.

All the spies of Thras and Githan eventually, what starts off as a seemingly innocent friendship can so easily escalate into entrapment in an agent relationship.

Perhaps you have just walked from a job where you were handling high-tech or sensitive information. An emergency intelligence officer might seek to capitalize on your knowledge while it's still fresh and current. He or she might take advantage of your appreciation of the sudden drop in your disposable income to get you on side.

Watch out for that one spy.
